

3 WOMEN, 1 MAN HURT AS CAR BOWLS OVER FUNERAL COACH

Driver Hurried Across Tracks and Smashup on Fifty-sixth Street Follows.

A southbound Lexington avenue car, crossing Fifty-sixth street, ran full force into a coach returning from a funeral at Calvary cemetery by way of Queensboro bridge at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The coach was bowled over so that it rested on its roof and then split in half. Three women—Mrs. Hannah Lowden of No. 35 West Fifty-third street, Mrs. Mary Hagan of No. 501 West Thirty-fifth street and Mrs. Lizzie Pierce of No. 43 Howard street, Brooklyn—were in the coach. They were cut by flying glass and severely bruised. Mrs. Lowden suffered severe internal injuries. The driver, Herman Longwell, was hurled to the pavement. He was badly bruised. He disappeared when the police looked for him to get his version of the accident.

The injured women were taken into the reception room of the Babies' Hospital and cared for there until they could be taken to Flinzer Hospital in an ambulance by Dr. Taylor. The motorist of the car, Eugene Reilly of No. 116 East Eighty-ninth street, told the police Longwell had plenty of warning from the going of the car to slow up and avoid the collision, but that instead of slackening speed, he hurried his horses and got in the way.

ELEVATOR CRUSHES MAN TO DEATH AS HE JUMPS.

Hotel St. Regis Employee Is Killed
When He Tries to Leap Aboard
Moving Car.

Barclay Mulas of No. 302 East Fifty-sixth street, a porter employed at the St. Regis Hotel, was crushed to death by an elevator in the sub-basement at noon today. A shipment of wine in cases was being delivered at a side-walk entrance to the basement on Fifty-sixth street. The elevator carrying the heavy cases passed through the basement to the sub-basement. Mulas, who was on the basement floor, tried to jump on the stack of boxes just as the elevator had passed him. He missed his footing and slipped from the elevator and fell under it. He was crushed and instantly killed.

The man made no outcry which could be heard except by other workmen in the basement and the guests of the hotel knew of the accident only when a patrol wagon arrived to take the body away.

HELD FOR BLACKHAND DEATH

Giuseppe Cresci Accused of Killing Bellini.

Giuseppe Cresci, twenty-six years old, of No. 251 East One Hundred and Fifty-third street, was today held without bail, for the action of the Grand Jury Coroner Pelton on a charge of murder, for the killing on Oct. 14 of the last of Domenico Bellini of No. 649 Morris avenue, in front of No. 38 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street. The shooting is said by the detectives of the Italian squad, to be the result of a "Black Hand" row.

According to the testimony of Miss Bellini's sister, who was with the witness today, the defendant and the man now dead accompanied by another, were in an automobile on the night of the shooting in the Bronx. They rode to East One Hundred and Thirtieth street where they met several other men. There was a quarrel, followed by the shooting and Bellini was found dead on the sidewalk.

A derby hat was found, and according to the testimony of the detectives today, the hat was traced to Cresci.

CATCH WOMAN SHOPLIFTER.

She Had Stolen Valuable Set of Furs in Department Store.

An attractive, well-dressed young woman, who said she was Clara Wolff, twenty-six years old, of Los Angeles, pleaded guilty to grand larceny before Magistrate Krotel in the Jefferson Market Court today and was held in $1,000 bail for trial in the Court of General Sessions.

She was accused of having stolen a set of furs valued at $15, a mesh bag, $15, a shirt waist, $5, an artificial bouquet, $3 and two stickpins $2, from a sixth avenue department store yesterday.

A woman detective, Anna Conchina, saw her take the goods. The prisoner said she had been in the city only three days.

NAP NEARLY COSTS LIFE.

Aged Man Disconnects Gas Tube
While Asleep.

Mrs. Tillie Priest, who lives on the top floor of No. 341 East Seventy-eighth street, returned to her home today after a short shopping tour, and found her aged father, George Heller, sitting in an armchair near a gas stove. The room was full of gas. She made an unsuccessful effort to arouse him, and summoned a policeman, who called Dr. Buti of the Receptions Hospital. The physician revived Heller and sent him to Bellevue Hospital.

Investigation showed a disconnected gas pipe on the stove near which the old man sat, and it is believed that, in his slumber, his arm dropped, disconnecting the pipe. He will recover.

KICKED TO DEATH BY MULE.

Stephen Ramaker, a driver, whose home is at No. 11 University place, Woodhaven, L. I., is dying in St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica.

Ramaker was working with a team of mules on an excavation job on Union Turnpike, Forest Hills, when, shortly after 7 o'clock today, he started to unhitch the beasts. One big mule suddenly seemed to be driven mad with rage and started kicking Ramaker.

The man was knocked down between the mules of the team, and before he could be rescued there was hardly a portion of his body that did not bear the imprint of hoofs. He was unconscious and nearly dead when taken to the hospital.
